

MAR10313 Certificate I in Maritime Operations (General Purpose Hand NC)

Train as a Deckhand and undertake a wide range of maritime work at sea and around the waterfront in communications, seamanship, logistics, tourism and hospitality; help re-build a marina or discover your potential with an environmental group. With further training and experience you could become a ships master.

- A General Purpose Hand (GPH) must be least 16 years of age and must successfully complete basic shipboard safety and sea survival training to work as a professional crew member.
- You will assist the Master, Engineer and/or owner as a general hand in the working of a commercial vessel.
- You may choose to work on Sydney Harbour, Australia's Great Barrier Reef or be paid to visit some of the most beautiful and exotic places on earth.

This qualification is suitable for people working in entry level positions in the maritime industry as a General Purpose Hand on deck or in the engine room of a vessel up to 80 metres within the exclusive economic zone (EEZ) or in the engine room only for a vessel with propulsion power up to 3000 kW.

This qualification is one component of the eligibility criteria to achieve General Purpose Hand Certificate of Competency which allows you to work in any state or territory in Australia. You can apply for your certificate by submitting application forms, along with supporting material to a marine safety agency who will process your application on AMSA's behalf.
